A MESSAGE FROM GEORGE.

(A Special from Washington).
Chairman People's Convention: Congratulations. I see the old town has awakened at last and the people are pulling together, and old Boiler Plate on Hudson Alley is whining. Let her yell. Tell Bill his seat in congress is on the front row.

(Signed) GEORGE.

HEYWOOD AND JONES THE PEOPLE'S CHOICE.

Notwithstanding the statements of the Boiler Plate sheet on Electric Alley, The Standard, with the great majority in Ogden, will support the men selected for city offices by the people's convention last Tuesday.

Unlike the Boiler Sheet, The Standard will accept no consideration for its support. It is a labor of love to support men for office who will protect the people of Ogden.

THANKS ARE DUE THEM.

The morning paper is a most inconsistent organ of malice. Having declared that Progressives, Socialists and others could not be drawn into the convention of last Tuesday at the Court House, it now proceeds to prove that the delegations present were made up of all political elements of the community and it rails at the leaders for having allowed a public protest of that nature to occur.

The facts are the morning paper would have been pleased had no one responded to the call. Nothing a great demonstration against the mayor and city commissioners, in which men from every calling in the city took part, the apologist attempts to criticize the movement because it was not limited. The fact that Democrats, Socialists and others went out of their way to resent the conduct of the city commissioners is evidence of how thoroughly the community is aroused. People of every shade of political opinion were ready to follow the leadership of the men of any political party having the courage to denounce the city administration and make an issue of the outrageous acts which marked the passage of the gas and light franchises, so that when the call came from Republican headquarters, men and women who had never before joined hands in politics, co-operated under the broad appeal which denied no one the right to join in voicing a protest against the tearing down of the pillars of the temple of the city.

The thanks of all citizens are due the Republicans who were broad enough to open their organization to the people as a means of rebuking an unworthy stewardship in city affairs.

PAST, PRESENT AND FUTURE FASHION SHOWS.

Ogden's 1915 Fashion Show opens auspiciously. The business men have worked more unitedly and diligently in preparing for the festive occasion than at any time in the past and they are about to prove what can be done by co-operation.

The Fashion Show is worthy of the support that is being extended. All wide-awake cities have some similar method of publicity and attraction and once a year give celebrations intended to afford recreation for the home people and to draw in the outsider.

For years Ogden had neglected this form of advertising and that indifference was a mistake.

Brigham City's "Peach Day" proves the people generally seek diversions and will travel long distances in search of the merriment of holiday crowds. Ogden has been aiming in a small way to gain recognition in the east through railroad folders and books, while neglecting to invite the people of northern Utah and southern Idaho to stop over and inspect this city. There are thousands of residents within 100 miles of Ogden who know this place as nothing more than a railroad junction and their impressions are confined to that narrow strip of houses which fringe the railroad lines. To get these people to see the heart of the business district and the beautiful residential streets would mean much to Ogden, as this is one of the most attractive cities in the United States.

Progress is being made in this direction. Two years ago when the Fashion Show supporters sought a conference with the railroad officials in an effort to impress them with the importance of the event, the transportation men made light of the celebration. This year the railroad agents sought a meeting with the local committee to inquire as to what they could do to help. They offered to put in effect special rates, and, true to their word, had circulars printed and distributed over the intermountain territory, advising the public that reduced rates to Ogden were in effect during the period of the Fashion Show and up to September 27.

The celebration should be made a regular yearly occurrence and the secretary of the Weber club or of the Publicity bureau should be permanent chairman to keep up interest, preserve decorations, outline plans, point out mistakes and commend successes, and carry forward the whole machinery of organization.

The good in celebrations in other cities should be noted and copied, until finally the Fashion Show is made the biggest event of the kind in the west.

KEEP TO YOUR OWN MISFORTUNES.

The campaign organ of the Fell-Browning combine is worried over the possibility of the Heywood-Jones committee developing discord.

The organ would do well to confine its solicitude to the troubles of the Fell-Browning organization. Before the campaign is over, the burden of carrying around Fell and Browning will be weight enough for any one paper.

There is no necessity for the apologist to borrow the troubles of others, as it will have more vexation of its own than one runt should attempt to struggle under.

WHY TAXES ARE GOING HIGHER.

Some of the men who stay awake nights framing excuses for the city commissioners declare the commissioners are not responsible for higher taxes, that they did not make up the assessed values.

An answer so puerile is enough to provoke profanity.

Suppose the assessment of Ogden is $15,000,000 and the assessor raises those figures to $20,000,000 or double, and the city commissioners not only maintain their old rate but increase the tax by a fraction of a mill, does any one pretend to say the city commissioners would not be responsible for doubling the taxes? The city would receive double the taxes and the taxpayers would be bled to the utmost.

The city commissioners, with the tremendous increase in assessed valuation of property, should have cut down the city rate to 10 mills or lower, but instead of reducing, they increased the rate.

Under the present form of government, it is possible to enforce economies which will reduce taxes, but the present city board utterly has failed in that particular.

What have the city commissioners done with the money? They have not spent it on the roads, for the driver of any auto will inform you that, outside the paved area, the streets of Ogden never were in the deplorable condition of today.

STEFANSSON'S DISCOVERY IN THE NORTH.

There is general rejoicing that Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the explorer, is safe. Touching on the explorer's discoveries, the Manchester Union says:

To the scientifically inclined, and especially to those who maintain a lively interest in Arctic exploration, a considerable addition has been made to the known land surface of the globe. For a long time it had been feared that the intrepid Stefansson and his companions were lost. The expedition has been for a year and a half beyond means of communication with the civilized world. During much of that time the assumption has been steadily gaining ground that all hands, including the leader himself, had perished in the icy fastnesses of the North. News to the contrary is as welcome as it was unexpected; and the additional information that Stefansson has chartered a ship to take the place of the Kariuk, and is proceeding with his work of investigation, affords further illustration of the man's perseverance. It was understood, when this expedition started north, that the accomplishment of its object would require three winters and four summers. It was originally intended to attempt the passage to Beaufort sea in the short time that the ice is open, and to discover the coast of a new continent which many explorers have declared to exist. Stefansson's brief message indicates that he is not far from the coast which he sought. If success finally crowns his efforts, herein will be found an object lesson, at least, in the reward of courage and persistence. Another trait of the explorer's character is his self-confidence. For many months after its start the expedition sent back only bad news. Two of its ships were lost in ice jams. The drift of the Kariuk and the later rescue of her people contributed not a little to the lore of the frozen North. Yet it is recalled that Stefansson, when he left his main party, ordered that no rescue or relief party be sent for him, as he would need none. His course appears to have been vindicated by the facts. If he has made the discovery indicated in his message, he has added much to the geographical knowledge of the world, even if not to its material wealth.

NO RECOGNITION OF CARRANZA

Villa and Chiefs Do Not Believe President Can Be Induced to Take Such Step.

Washington, Sept. 24.—The Villa agency here today made public the following statement issued at Juarez after a conference between Villa and his military chiefs, relative to the possible recognition of Carranza by the Pan-American conference.

"We do not believe President Wilson can be persuaded to take this step, as such would signify recognition of a military dictatorship or despotism, without courts or other of those public institutions de facto governments are required to have under American precedents, to justify recognition. Carranza has never proclaimed any government, assuming all powers there of himself, while Villa, on the other hand, demands and is fighting for the restoration of constitutional government."

Villa advises say an objective movement against Carranza is imminent in Vera Cruz and adjoining states. Dispatches here also reported that General Jose Santos with 500 men had revolted against Carranza near Monterrey. A raid on Carranza, Sonora, by Pan-

ASSEMBLY HELD ON MOUNTAIN

Both Houses of Ohio Touring Cincinnati Southern Railroad — Resolutions Are Adopted.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Sept. 24.—The general assembly of Ohio held a brief session on the summit of Lookout mountain today with a majority of both houses present. The session, incident to a tour of the Cincinnati Southern railroad, was confined by the proclamation authorizing it to discussion and adoption of a resolution of thanks to cities along the route for their hospitality to the party.

President Presiding Officer Arnold of the senate used a pile of cannon balls for a chair, while Speaker Conover's rostrum was a cannon. A roll call showed 82 representatives and 25 senators present.

WORLD'S MARKETS

New York, Sept. 24.—Special stocks were again conspicuous at the opening of today's market with moderate improvement in some of the standard railways. Baldwin Locomotive opened with a fractional gain which was soon extended to 2 3/8, placing it at the new high price of 92 3/8. International Nickel recovered five points of yesterday's late setback at 217, and Colorado Fuel, Bethlehem Steel, American Car, American Locomotive, American Woolen and the Maxwell Motor issues were higher by 1 to 2 points. United States Steel opened at a slight advance, but soon reacted to 77 3/8, yesterday's final quotation. Railroads also lost initial gains.

London Stock Market.

London, Sept. 24.—A fair business was done in the American section of the stock market, especially in United States Steel, Canadian Pacific and Erie. The closing was steady.

Chicago Grain

Chicago, Sept. 24.—Relief from tension regarding a possible squeeze of shorts was evident in the wheat market today owing to the board of trade directors having decided that No. 1 velvet chaff would be acceptable on time contracts here, although subject to a penalty. The consequence of the ruling was to render virtually certain a sufficient supply here to fill all necessary deliveries on September options. Big receipts northwest and the fact that cables were weak tended also to ease the market. Opening prices, which ranged from the same as last night to 5-8c lower, with December at 93 1/2 to 93 1/4c, and May at 96 to 96 1/2c, were followed by a moderate rally, but then a fresh downturn.

Corn developed firmness, influenced by the comparative smallness of the stock on hand here. Bulls, however, were not aggressive. After opening 1-4c off to a shade advance, the market scored a rise all around.

Oats sympathized with corn. Besides there was a fair shipping inquiry.

Higher prices for hogs gave strength to provisions. Lard and ribs were in especial demand.

Wheat prices closed strong, 1-3 to 1 1/4c above last night with December at 95 1/4c, and May at 97 5/8c. The corn close was firm 1-4 to 1-2c net higher.
